

Hi everybody! I'm sorry I've been so quiet on social media since the release of Whatever Tomorrow Brings--I've been having sinus problems and spent a miserable month with a headache. Thankfully, I'm on the mend now, and it's time to look forward to the holiday season and beyond!

The holidays are coming--are you ready?

Black Friday is less than 2 weeks away--do you have a plan of attack for getting everyone that perfect gift? Here are some tips to make this year's shopping adventure easier:

5 Holiday Shopping Tips for 2021:

1. Start early. Experts agree that starting to shop early this year will be a good strategy, not only because deals are kicking off earlier but also because hot products may sell out quickly, or fail to arrive at your doorstep on time.
2. Skip the in-store sales and shop online. While there will probably be a few more in-store promotions than there were last year, analysts expect a smaller number than in pre-pandemic days. But retailers will offer more of the same promotions online that they do in stores. And online shoppers may see more free delivery offers and ship-to-store programs with curbside pickup.

3. Use websites and apps. To judge how good the deals really are at crunch time, you need to track prices. But you don't have to go retailer by retailer to compare prices--when you're in a store, smartphone apps such as BuyVia, Shopkick, ShopSavvy, and Shopular let you scan bar codes or QR codes to compare prices, get discounts, and score coupons.

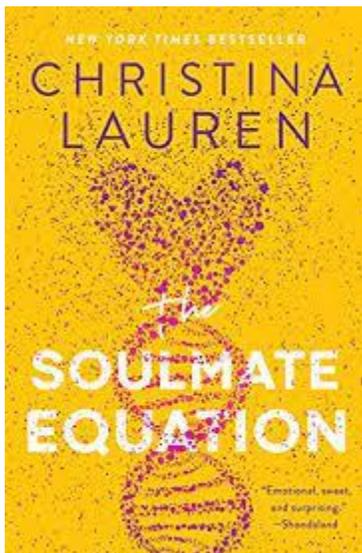

There are now dozens of websites that post leaked—and authorized—Black Friday ads. Check BestBlackFriday.com, DealNews, TheBlackFriday.com, Deals Plus/BlackFriday.fm, and GottaDeal. Sign up for deal alerts, which you can usually filter by product category.

4. Use loyalty programs. Store loyalty programs often grant members early access to coupons, sales, and promotions, then let them earn rewards on what they buy.

5. Get social. The Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter feeds of your favorite retailers are a great way to find out about exclusive deals and promotions. Retailers will often reward customers who like or follow them with special alerts to discounts and incentives.

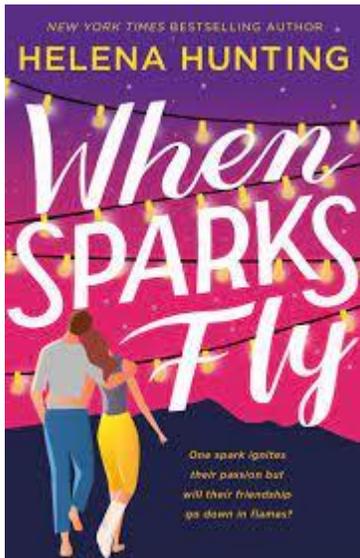

So you've taken care of everyone else--what's on your wish list for this year? Here are a few suggestions by some fantastic authors:

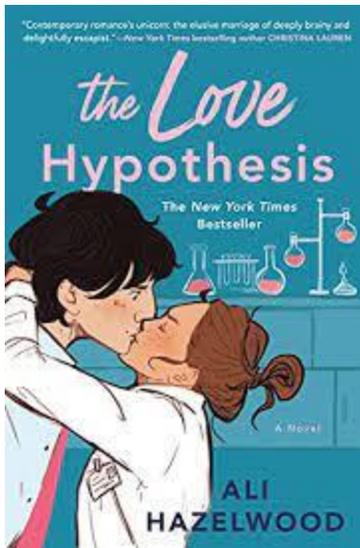

The Soulmate Equation by Christina Lauren

The New York Times bestselling author of The Unhoneymooners returns with a witty and effervescent novel about what happens when two people with everything on the line are thrown together by science--or is it fate?

When Sparks Fly by Helena Hunting

Avery Spark is living her best life. Between her friends, her sisters, and Spark House, the event hotel her family owns, she doesn't have much time for anything else, especially relationships. She'd rather hang out with her best friend and roommate, Declan McCormick, than deal with the dating scene. But everything changes when she is in a car accident and needs someone to care for her as she heals.

The Love Hypothesis by Ali Hazelwood

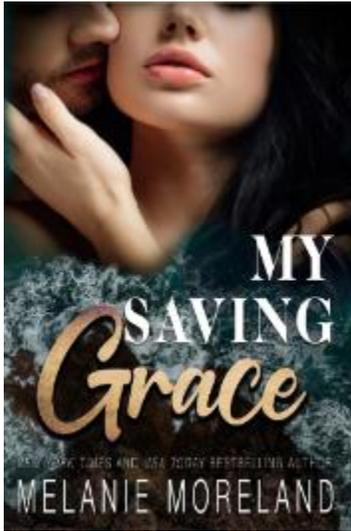

When a fake relationship between scientists meets the irresistible force of attraction, it throws one woman's carefully calculated theories on love into chaos.

Head Over Heels by S.L. Scott

As a prominent divorce attorney and Manhattan's most eligible bachelor, I'm as sought after in the courtroom as I am in the bedroom. Winning in both arenas is my specialty.

The only thing I ever lost was the nerve to tell the girl of my dreams how I felt about her. Seven years later, I might be getting the opportunity when she moves into my spare bedroom.

My Saving Grace by Melanie Moreland

Grace VanRyan has her life mapped out. Law school, a career with ABC, and a bright future ahead of her. Until Jaxson Richards steps into the picture. He's everything she hasn't planned for. Older, sexy, off-limits.

And her new boss.

When the passion between them explodes, will her life blow up along with it?

Now that the Embrace Tomorrow Duet is complete, I've been working on my next novel, to be released in 2022. This one will be New Adult romance and a bit lighter than Embrace Tomorrow--I'm SO excited to share it with you!

Here's a little sneak peak only for my newsletter subscribers--this isn't the actual cover art or blurb because I'm still working on those, but a little taste of what's coming!

The Lie That Binds

Some secrets will damage your reputation. Others will ruin your social life. But then there are secrets that will change the way the world looks at you, now and forever. What will Nathan be willing to do to keep such a secret? And who will pay the price?
